AN OLD LETTER

Contributed by Helen Mead Burget of Wyandotte, Michigan

Note: This letter was written by my great-aunt, Maria Smith, to her brother, William Smith and his wife, Rebecca Foster Smith, my grandfather and grandmother. It was sent from Dexter, Washtenaw County, Michigan to Bethany, Genesee County, New York. It was folded, sealed with wax without envelope, and "paid 25" marked in the corner. It is dated "1830", though a Bible record gives the date of the wedding she tells of, as "1831". Who made the mistake? HMB

Dexter the 13 1830

Dear Brother and sister it is with pleasure I take this opportunity to write a few lines to let you know that I am well likewise the rest of the family and hope these few lines find you and yours the same it seems by your neglect in writing that you have quite forgotten us but it is not the case with us Mother feels verry anxious to here from you and all her old neighbors since we canot see each others face let us converse by writing which will be consolation to me and mother I have no news to write in particular at present only that we had a verry tegious winter here father has froze one of feet verry bad I think it is a great c(h)ance if he is able to labour any m(o)re this winter.

Mother sends her love to you and Rebeca and likewise the little one so no more
I am yours Sincerely

Maria Smith

William Smith

Editor's note:- We think it a most unusual coincidence in genealogy that we should be able to copy this old letter with its brief account of the wedding that took place more than a hundred years ago, and at the same time to have the Bible records of the families of the bride and groom. On page 186 ff will be found two Bible records of the Smith and Ball families. The Orin Ball - Emeline Smith record was copied by Mrs. Burget's cousin, Col. Mark L. Ireland, on April 30, 1916, from the Bible then in the possession of Mrs. Louisa Victoria Ball-Randall. The Elias Smith record was copied by Col. Ireland's mother, Mary A. Smith-Ireland, before April 14, 1902, from a Bible which had belonged to her grandfather, Elias Smith. Col. Ireland gave Mrs. Burget copies of these and other family records; she is the owner of this old letter, as well as a number of others that passed between the Smith and Foster families in Michigan and those who remained behind in New York State. Priceless heirlooms!

NOTES OF THE SOCIETY

Again at the May meeting of the Society we enjoyed a talk by one of our own members. Ex-President Roy E. McFee, who is heard too seldom, spoke on the subject, "Along the Historic Mohawk". Mr. McFee speaks with the enthusiasm of a native son who loves the region. After telling something of the life of the Mohawk Indians, the early inhabitants of the valley, he took up the career of Sir William Johnson, who played so prominent a part in the history of the Mohawk Valley. From the genealogical angle he accounted for the three families of Sir William, two of them part Indian, many of whose descendants are living today. We wish Mr. McFee might be heard on a program more often.

In connection with Mr. McFee's story of Sir William Johnson, Mrs. Eleanor Gerard Russell told an interesting incident that happened recently in Detroit, where the matter of birth certificates is lately of much importance. A man questioned as to his birth and as to whose lineage among several was the older, produced papers to prove, not only his ancient lineage as an Indian, but his descent from one of the children of Sir William Johnson.

The following officers for the year 1942-1943 were unanimously elected at the May meeting. President, Mr. L. Austin Pearce; Vice-President, Dr. H. L. Harrington; Recording Secretary, Mrs. Wm. F. Cleveland; Corresponding Secretary, Mrs. Frances B. Chase; Treasurer, Mr. Elbert E. Boyd; Editor, Mrs. E. B. Kresge; Assistant Editor, Miss Maude C. Hathaway. They will be inducted into office in the fall.

The Society has recently received a gift of the "Koon and Coons Family of Eastern New York", compiled by William Solyman Coons, 1937. For this we thank Mrs. C. C. (Kate Koon) Bovey.

The Burton Historical Collection of the Detroit Public Library has received a valuable gift of some 1,000 volumes from the library of the late Richard Pickering Joy. Included are histories, biographies and travel books; fascinating scrapbooks made by Mr. Joy who was one of Detroit's outstanding financiers; bound family papers which give a good picture of Detroit at the beginning of this century and earlier. "Each volume bears the Joy book-plate, a reproduction of Boston's first Town Hall, which was designed by Thomas Joy, founder of the Joy family in this country, who came to Boston from England in 1662". Family papers such as these and other rare books of the Burton Historical Collection are being put into bombproof rooms. Some 3,000 Detroit families have deposited their personal papers in this collection.

Mrs. Marie Noll Cormack, archivist of the Genealogical Society of Schenectady, New York, was a recent visitor. She is a most enthusiastic researcher in genealogical fields and believes there should be a federation of all such societies, with some method of exchanging materials. Through such an exchange, arranged by Mrs. Cormack and Mrs. Stones of the Burton Historical Collection, several typed manuscripts of family Bible records and cemetery records of Albany, Schenectady and Saratoga Counties in New York State have been received.

Several recent newspaper articles showing the ease with which false birth certificates are being secured have aroused genealogists and other good citizens everywhere. The Adrian (Mich.) Daily Telegram of May 29, ends a discussion of the situation with these words: "Nation-wide laws and regulations are needed for this important matter, and they should be stringent. There should be rigid identification and finger-printing of all applicants. American citizenship is too important a matter to be disposed of like a dog license. Those who enjoy it should have authentic proof of it, and those who claim it should be required to prove the truth of their claim."

HARTMAN-RICE-WALLICK FAMILY DATA
Compiled by Anna Andreas Wentink of Detroit

The following genealogical data is given in response to questions sent the writer following the publication of her "MY GRANDMOTHER TOLD ME THIS" story, which appeared in the December, 1941 issue of this magazine. The writer would like to correspond with anyone having further information about these families; especially with anyone having Wallick data.

JOHANNES HARTMAN was born about 1717 in Schwerin, Hesse-Cassel. In 1750, in the ship "Royal Union", he arrived in Philadelphia, accompanied by his wife Margaret (Moses) and their five oldest children. He took the oath of allegiance to King George, Aug. 15, 1750, and by 1755 his family had settled in Pikeland Township, Chester County, Pennsylvania, having taken up a tract of land under the Penn government. During the Revolution he was a member of the Committee of Safety to Enforce the Acts of the Continental Congress, and he helped to sustain Washington during the bleak winter at Valley Forge. He died in 1785; his wife, Margaret, died in 1773.

ZACHARIAH RICE (REISS) was born in Germany in 1731, and arrived in Philadelphia, Pennsylvania, September 16, 1751, aboard the ship "Edinburgh", accompanied by his brother Johannes. Soon after he built a clover mill on Pickering Creek, Pikeland Station, Chester County, Pennsylvania, where traces of the head and tail races still remain. His style of clover mill was in use until 1860. In 1757 he married ABIGAIL HARTMAN who, according to the Rice Family Bible (now said to be in the possession of the Myra Wallick Carrier family in Chicago, Illinois) was born "In the year 1742, in the month of September, on the 4th day". According to the old Trappe Church Book, she was confirmed Maria Appolonia, at age 15, on June 26, 1756, but later she changed her name to Abigail. Zachariah and Abigail Rice were the parents of a large family whom they brought up "in the fear of the Lord". The eight oldest children were born while they attended St. Augustine's Lutheran Church at Trappe, in charge of Father Muhlenberg, the pioneer of the American Lutheran Church in America. They traveled the thirteen miles on horse-back, as carriages and wagon roads were lacking at that time. In 1771, St. Peter's was built in Pikeland, and the family attended it until 1790 when they moved to Cumberland, now Perry and Juniata Counties.

During the Revolution both Zachariah and Abigail were active; he as a soldier and builder of hospitals and she as a nurse. She contracted typhus fever while carrying delicacies to the sick soldiers at Yellow Springs Hospital near her home, and never fully recovered. She died November 6, 1789 and was buried in St. Peter's Churchyard in Pikeland. At this same time Zachariah sustained another loss. His three hundred and fifteen acre farm, and the large stone house he had built on it, was seized by foreclosure of an old English mortgage held by Samuel Hoare of London, to whom Andrew Allen, a Member of the Continental Congress, had made it. Allen in turn had given fraudulent titles to the one hundred fourteen farmers to whom he sold the Pikeland Tract.

Zachariah Rice, with all but four of his children, along with other relatives and friends, moved by covered wagons to northwest Cumberland, now Perry and Juniata Counties. Here, at the age of sixty, he had to begin life anew, clearing the forests, building a log house and bringing up his younger children in habits of thrift, industry and right living. In 1794 he laid the first log for the Lebanon Church at Loysville. By 1801 he had paid for his farm and by 1808 he was ready to retire. He died August 19, 1811, and was buried at Church Hill, Juniata County, Pennsylvania.

GEORGE WALLICK was born in Perry County, Pennsylvania, November 15, 1796, and came as a man with his parents to Wayne Township, Tuscarawas County, Ohio. On July 6, 1820, he married MARY KNESTRICK, daughter of Frederick and Margaret Knestrick, who had come from Washington County, Maryland about 1808.

George was a boat builder and constructed the first canal boats which were drawn by mules up the tow-path from Dresden and Uhrichsville, on the then recently completed Ohio Canal to Cleveland. He built a house on Wooster Road on the outskirts of Canal Dover (now Dover), Ohio, which is still standing. On July 2, 1845 he was stricken with cholera during an epidemic, died and was buried the same day, without being seen by his family. His wife lived until August 4, 1871. Both are buried in the Fourth Street Cemetery, Dover, Ohio.

There were at least six Wallicks, heads of families, who came to Tuscarawas County, Ohio, between 1807 and 1820. They all were said to be related, but the relationship in all cases has not been clearly determined. (1) BENJAMIN, who came from Perry County, Pennsylvania, with his wife, Mary (Rice) Wallick and family has been previously recorded. A second was Michel, Benjamin's brother. (2) MICHEL WALLICK was born in Pennsylvania in 1774, and came to Ohio about 1820. He died April 21, 1845, and was buried in Bunker Hill Cemetery, Winfield, Ohio.

1. HENRY, b. 8/27/1819, Pennsylvania, d. 8/11/1907, Sturgis, Michigan;
m. 1845, Lucinda Middaugh.
2. Isaac, b. 2/15/1822, Ohio, d. 12/12/1882, Winfield, Ohio;
m. 10/8/1842, Nancy Smiley
3. Margaret, d. Miami County, Ind.; m. 5/11/1830, Benjamin Stroock
4. Phoebe
5. Sophia, m. 1842, Francis Price.

HENRY WALLICK lived in Tuscarawas County, Ohio, 1820 to 1855. He then moved to a farm near Zanesville, Indiana. In 1903 he removed to Sturgis, Michigan. Among his eight children were the following: 1. Sarah Maddux; 2. Harvey; 3. Sidney; 4. George; all of Sturgis, Michigan; 5. Malissa Haldi; 6. John Henry, who came back to Dover, Ohio about 1885 and died there August 24, 1925. Sidney's daughter, Flossie Miller, lived in Adrian, Michigan, and at least three of George's sons, William, Roland and Harvey, settled in Sturgis, Michigan.

(3) GEORGE WALLICK, said to be a cousin of Benjamin and his brother, Michel, came to Franklin Township, 1807-9, and settled near what today is Strasburg, Ohio. His estate was probated October, 1832. His widow, Catherine, and his son George, Jr. were mentioned, as were a Benjamin Wallick to whom he owed money, and a Catherine, on whom he made a marriage settlement of $200.00.

George Jr.'s tombstone in Reformed Churchyard at Strasburg, Ohio, has inscribed - "Born 5-3-1805 Died 3-6-1861"; that of his wife Mary bears the dates - "Born 9-22-1806 Died 2-23-1868". (History of Tuscarawas County, Ohio, pp. 554-5-6, 684; Administration Docket, #1, 2, 3, p. 88; F. A. R. #1, p. 174)

Bowen & Co., pp. 851 - 852)

(5) PHILIP WALLICK of Bedford County, Pennsylvania, who bought land in Mill Township June 19, 1813, married Elizabeth Showalter, February 2, 1818.

(6) JOHN WALLICK'S estate was probated July, 1830. (Final Account Record #1, p. 37)

Emigration to Michigan from the Southern States.- It is known to many of our readers that a large portion of the emigrants which have heretofore settled in the St. Joseph Country are from the southern states. A late Charleston (Virginia) paper states, that during the month of Sept., it was computed that not less than 8000 individuals has passed through that place bound for Indiana, Illinois and Michigan. They were principally from the lower part of Virginia and South Carolina. They jog on, careless of the varying climate, and apparently without regret for the friends and the country they leave behind, seeking "forests to fell" and "a new country to settle".

For a time John Cornell resided in Dartmouth, Mass., where he owned land, but in 1676 he was of Hempstead, L.I., N.Y., where he held a patent from the Governor. This land included the farm later occupied by Henry 4 Sands (Edward 3, Capt. John 2, Capt. James 1). John was Justice of the Peace 1689. In 1702 he, with his sons, purchased a farm of Thomas Willett for 1600, upon which John Williams and Caleb Cornell lived, which adjoined land of Thomas 3

Barker, who was an ancestor of AY6 Esther 6 (Palmer) Sands. SZb2 John Cornell set aside the Cornell graveyard on the outskirts of Port Washington, Cowneck, L.I. which in 1886 was still sacred to the intended purpose. John 2 Cornell d. about 1704, and he and his wife were buried there.

UZb3 Mary 2 (Russell) Cornell, wife of SZb2 John 2 Cornell, was from the New England family which bore arms described thus:

"Blazen of -

"The Arms: Argenta chevron between three cross crosslets fitchee sable.

"The Crest: A demi-lion holding a cross crosslet sable."

This shield of arms of Russell is of a crusading knight-errant. Hugh de Rosel derived his Norman name, which is recorded in the Domesday Book (1086) from the Marshal of the Buttery of the Lordship of Rosel in the French Cotentin. On the Roll of Battel Abbey containing the names of all the companies of William the Conqueror at the battle of Hastings the name appears as Russell. The French derivative of the name signified a brook, rivulet, stream, -a place name. Some authorities believe that Ralph Russell, of Pontipool, Monmouthshire, Wales who was at Braintree, Mass., going then to Taunton, Mass., in 1652 to construct iron-works in collaboration with James and Henry Leonard, was the father of UZb1 John Russell of Dartmouth, Mass., where Ralph is said to have settled later. There is said to be no confirmation proof of such a relationship. Ralph Russell died 1676. There were many English contemporaries of John 1 Russell by the name of John Russell, whose ancestry has been elaborately worked out, but there seems to be no proof that John Russell of Dartmouth was identified with any of them.

To New England came John, Richard, and Dennis Russell. UZb1 John 1 Russell, b. 1608 in Eng.; d. Feb. 13, 1695. In 1642 he was elected constable of Marshfield, Mass., where he was then living and where he had several grants of land. In 1644 he became a freeman and held several public offices. He was one of the proprietors and settlers of Dartmouth, Mass., where Mar. 9, 1661 he bought for £42 of Capt. Miles Standish a full share in the Dartmouth purchase. He was Dartmouth's first Representative at the Old Colony Court in Plymouth, in 1665, continuing until 1683, except during 1666 and 1673.

During King Phillip's War, Dartmouth township was spared complete annihilation by the foresight of John Russell, who converted his residence on the Apponegansett River into one of two garrisoned houses in Dartmouth. These intrenchments though far from impregnable served also as a place of refuge for the troops who went to their rescue. At the close of the war, John Russell and John Cooke served the people in an intelligent effort to support a teacher and rebuild the town. In John Russell's new house on the hill, school was held and there, too, the town meetings were conducted. After having served his fellow-townsmen well, he died Feb. 13, 1695. His wife Dorothy died Dec. 13/3, 1687. It is alleged by some authorities that Dorothy Russell, as the widow of the Rev. John Cotton, married second, the Rev. Henry Smith. Afterward as the widow of the Rev. Henry Smith, she married third John 1 Russell. If this were true, it suggests the possibility that John Russell had been previously married, and that his children may have been by a previous marriage. The writer has nowhere found this perhaps groundless suggestion. It opens the way for an interesting search.

Against a great and noble ancestry cry out

Reply

866:M-28: SAGE-KIRBY-STARR-WELD: For the latest research on the Starr family see "New England Historical and Genealogical Register" Vols. 89 to 95, in an article entitled "Dr. Thomas Starr, Surgeon in the Pequot War, and his Family Connections" by Hosea Starr Ballou of Brookline, Mass. Mr. Ballou says here that the name of Rachel, the wife of Dr. Thomas Starr, is still a subject of research; that the name of Elizabeth, the wife of Dr. Comfort Starr, is unknown, as is the date and place of their marriage, but that she was the mother of all of his children. The Comfort Starr who married Marah Weld was not a doctor. His brother Thomas, his father Thomas and his grandfather Comfort were all doctors. This article gives much new material about the Starr family in England, but finds nothing beyond Thomas Starr, the father of Dr. Comfort, both of whom came to America.

For a little about the Welds in England see "Under The Black Horse Flag - Annals of the Weld Family and Some of its Branches" by Isabel Anderson, Litt. D. (Mrs. Larz Anderson), 1926. It gives no dates and nothing of Barbara (Clapp) Weld.
